GROSSMAN DEVELOPMENT GROUP CONTINUES REVITALIZATION IN WORCESTER & SHREWSBURY

SOUTHBOROUGH -- Grossman Development Group (GDG) is continuing its commitment to be an important part of re-energizing the Worcester County economy. Having recently completed acquisition of one of the highest volume Goodyear tire stores in the chain, GDG expanded the Worcester location on Grafton Street with two additional bays. The highly visible location is adjacent to a busy Stop & Shop-anchored shopping plaza.

GDG has also been working with Whole Foods to finalize the initial phase of the Lakeway District Project. Whole Foods has been an early adopter of the project and is slated to occupy a 50,000 square foot building within the proposed retail and residential project.

Grossman Development Group President Howard Grossman and Vice President of Development Mark Hebert attended Shrewsbury Planning Board meetings in December and January to discuss and answer questions surrounding building plans and traffic flow.

Grossman said that being a local business and homeowner in Worcester County, he values revitalizing a highly traveled part of Boston Turnpike Road (Route 9).

"Replacing the existing property and land with newly constructed living and recreation areas as well as retail options will continue to enhance this historic part of Shrewsbury that holds memories and nostalgia for generations of shoppers," said Grossman.

Shrewsbury Board of Selectmen Chair Jim Kane remarked how Grossman is proving himself to be the "real deal" who is capable of delivering on the representations and promises made to Shrewsbury.

"Working with Grossman Development Group to revitalize this important piece of property will increase Shrewsbury's aesthetic and economic value," said Kane. "Grossman is committed to the town and being entrenched in the community as a good neighbor."

The Lakeway District project is scheduled to break ground in May 2015, pending final project and design approval by the Shrewsbury Planning Board. There are also plans to announce confirmed retailers, restaurants and amenities within the month.
